FAMILYNET ACQUIRES AWARD-WINNING PROGRAMS FROM CBS TELEVISION DISTRIBUTION GROUP

January 13, 2009 (Atlanta, GA)– FamilyNet Television, a trusted leader in providing programming that is focused on the family, announced today that the company reached an agreement with CBS Television Distribution Group to acquire sitcoms Happy Days, My Three Sons, Family Ties and sci-fi drama Early Edition. These titles represent a sampling of CBS' Emmy® and Golden Globe® award-winning family sitcoms slated to jump start a new season of prime-time shows on FamilyNet.

Weeknights, beginning January 26 from 6:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m., FamilyNet will air sitcoms from CBS' vintage library featuring some of America's favorite TV families; the Cunningham's, the Douglas' and the Keaton's'. During their long-running seasons, these must-see, classic series preserved "family time" and became standard programming on television sets in homes across America.

My Three Sons, is a timeless series that reinvented the traditional situation comedy by casting a widowed dad raising his boys with help from father-in-law Bub and uncle Charley. Classic comedy and all-time favorite, Happy Days starring Henry Winkler (The Fonz), Ron Howard, Scott Baio, Tom Bosley and Marion Ross redefines television time as family time. And Family Ties puts a fresh spin on the typical sitcom formula by pitting liberal parents against their conservative son, Alex P. Keaton (Michael J. Fox). To drive viewers to the prime-time block, FamilyNet rolls out its new promotional campaign this week, "Watch Families on FamilyNet".

"FamilyNet is a brand that families trust and believe in. We are considered the cornerstone for safe programming and the destination place for viewers who want to watch shows that are specifically made-for-families," stated Dale Weller, Chief Operating Officer for FamilyNet Television and Radio. "While we expand our 1st quarter schedule, our commitment will not waiver. We will always put family first by programming the network with responsible, yet entertaining viewing choices".
